2/ Stewart Reuben's report on round 3

Two rounds of the Accelerated System more-or-less cleared all the bottom half players off the plus scores. Thus there were only two players left with 2/2. In an ordinary seeded Swiss one might have expected a dozen.

I rather expected Surya Ganguly to have a perfunctory draw with Chanda Sandipan. They did indeed draw, but this was after many hours of serious play. The Indians tend not to play quick draws in their encounters. We expected an early bath in Bogdan Lalic's game against Nigel Short. The spread might have been 18-20 moves. Thus we were not disappointed at the outcome. Bogdan simply is not sufficiently ambitious to bat a player of Nigel's stature, and he is too good to beat when he has the white pieces. The only solution to this problem in chess is to have a knockout tournament.

The game between John Emms and Jon Speelman also fizzled out to an early draw by repetition. This was not agreed an advance, but they did seem to wander into a line in which this was the most logical outcome to the game.

Elsewhere there were no huge surprises. The English were pleased to see 13 year-old David Howell draw with the strong Russian grandmaster, Vladimir Epishin. Local player Manuel Matto beat Abdela Felloussi. He has come a long way since last year and we can now expect him to become the first player from Gibraltar to achieve a FIDE Rating. 7 year-old Peter Williams explained to me he made several serious errors in his game, but feels he is playing well and is not at all discouraged. There are several young Norwegians playing, and the improvement in their play since last year is extremely pronounced. Emil Agdestein is particularly pleased that his rating of 1999 permits him also to play in the amateur tournaments. Today we thought the best publicity for the tournament was that they were analysing and sunbathing in the garden before their afternoon game.
