John Saunders' Report on Round 1

Welcome to the 4th Gibtelecom International tournament at the Caleta Hotel, Catalan Bay, Gibraltar. As tournament director Stewart Reuben said in last year's bulletin, the tournament continues to go from strength to strength. This year's Masters event has 124 players with about as large a disparity of chess strength as can be imagined, ranging from world championship finalists and super-grandmasters to what modern chess book publishers like to call 'improvers'. That is one of the great virtues of an open Swiss tournament: to provide good chess competition for players of (nearly) all strengths.

The tournament was opened on Sunday evening by the Hon. Fabian Vinet, who is Minister for Heritage, Culture, Youth and Sport in the Gibraltar government, and also chairman of Gibtelecom who so generously sponsor the tournament and provide a wireless network for the use of the organisers and competitors. Unfortunately tournament director Stewart Reuben was taken ill during the course of the evening and is currently recuperating in hospital. We can report that he is making good progress and should be back with us in a couple of days.

To the play: Alexei Shirov was paired with the experienced Ukrainian woman grandmaster Natalia Zhukova and these two treated the crowd to some no-holds-barred, fighting chess. There was very nearly a big surprise. Shirov (White) could probably have gained an advantage with 20 Be3 but instead played the inferior 20 Ba3. A few moves later his jaw visibly dropped as Black played 22...Bxb5, leaving the queen en prise to a pawn but threatening mayhem if it were to be taken. Zhukova emerged from the complications an exchange and pawn up but her king was a little exposed. Somewhat short of time, she allowed a three-fold repetition.

Pontus Carlsson's game against Vladimir Akopian was one of those nightmare closed Gurgenzidze games where White has to suffer the tortures of the damned for many hours in a clearly inferior position but without a good excuse to resign. It came down to a bad bishop versus good knight endgame, and a little tactical trick settled the issue.

Nigel Short went in for a hairy line of the Sveshnikov, where White gets pawns in return for Black getting some tactical chances. Ketevan Arakhamia tried the visual move 14...Bg4 to harass Short's queen, but White could parry the attack. Short's king looked shaky for a while, but it secured a safe haven on f1 and the extra pawns told.

When commenting on Mikhail Kobalia's play at the last Monarch Assurance, I dubbed him 'the Grinder'. Perhaps that soubriquet was a bit unkind as he played very energetically this afternoon. Playing White against Gerard Welling, he established a strong grip on the dark squares and then occupied the g-file. Finding not a glimmer of counterplay, Black decided he had had enough.

Round one was not marked by any great surprises, but quite a number of the lower-rated players stood firm to draw against their higher rated brethren. Watu Kobese played an enterprising piece for pawns sacrifice against Kiril Georgiev and gained enough play for the Bulgarian to decide to opt for a draw. Similarly, Emil Sutovsky was unable to generate an advantage against Anton Aaberg's Caro Kann and could have been worse towards the end of the game. Marcel Peek shed a weak pawn against Viktor Korchnoi but the Dutchman continued to defend tenaciously and the great man could not find a way through.

A quick statistical round-up: this year we have two 2700+ players (Shirov and Akopian), plus 11 in the 2600-2699 (two of them, Alexander Areshchenko and Zahar Efimenko, are arriving tomorrow) and no less than 23 women players (including world champion Antoaneta Stefanova and former champion Zhu Chen).

Miscellaneous Information

WEBSITE - The website for the tournament is www.gibraltarchesscongress.com, run by Bill O'Rourke. All games, results, pairings, crosstables, norm ratings, photographs, bulletins and on-line play-throughs can be found at this site. Live commentary by Stuart Conquest is broadcast each day during the masters sessions on the website – please let all your worldwide chess colleagues know! They can join in the conversations by logging into ICC (internet chess club) – they can question Stuart with regards to what is happening in the live games. Any comments / suggestions / ideas / constructive criticisms welcome to Bill please!

Please provide any links to Bill for your national newspapers / chess bodies who would like photographs sent over the net for publication.

TEAM BLITZ - There is to be a team blitz tournament on Wednesday 25 January, with £400 in prizes - but entry is free! Teams of four players (no restrictions). Choose a creative name and enter it and the identities of the four players on the tournament noticeboard.

TRIP TO MOROCCO - On Friday 27 January there is a day trip to Tetouan and Tangier. The price is £47.00 (adult) or £37.00 (child), to include coach transfers to and from the port in Spain, lunch, return ferry. The trip includes a city tour of Tetouan, camels, visit to the market, transfer to (and tour of) Tangier. If you want to go you need to put your name on the list on the tournament noticeboard, or speak to Judy Whurr.

T-SHIRTS - can competitors please remember to collect their free t-shirts from the table after their games.
